Featured Speakers

Susan Warsinger

Susan Warsinger (Susi Hilsenrath) was born on May 27, 1929, in Bad Kreunznach, Germany to Israel and Annie Hilsenrath. On the night of November 9-10, 1938 (later called Kristallnacht or Night of the Broken Glass), Susan witnessed bricks and rocks being smashed through her bedroom window and saw that it was her neighbors. Susan fled to Versailles and temporarily lived in Louis XIV's palace. When German soldiers arrived, Susan translated for a German officer and the mayor without them discovering her Jewish identity. Susan immigrated to the United States and was eventually reunited with her family. On December 25, 1949, she married Irving Warsinger. They had three daughters. Susan taught in the Prince George's County, Maryland school system for 27 years.

Rae Goldfarb

Rae Goldfarb (Rachel Mutterperl) was born on December 2, 1930, in Dokszyce, Poland to Beryl and Dina Mutterperl. When the Germans began mass killings of the Jews in Dokszyce in 1942, Rae and her family went into hiding. Rae made her way to the ghetto in Glebokie and then escaped when assigned to perform forced labor outside the ghetto walls. In late summer of 1944, Rae marched with partisans to the Soviet lines. In 1947, Rae immigrated to the United States. Rae married Harvy Goldfarb, a Holocaust survivor and Korean War veteran, in June 1952. They have two children, Lynn and Barry. Rae was a real estate agent for 30 years.
